Going Green with Solaredge - We are extremely happy with our decision to go all electric and install a new Solar Edge battery and Home Hub. The installation process was professional and without hassles. The battery has allowed excellent savings on our electricity consumption.

What is SolarEdge's Solar battery scorecard?

Scoring is based on our solar battery scorecard which is consistently applied to each brand and battery available on the Australian market. This scoring reflects SolarEdge's Home Battery (bat-10k1p) which needs to be paired with a SolarEdge hybrid inverter.

How many kilowatts does a SolarEdge home battery use?

The SolarEdge Home Battery offers 9.7 kilowatt-hours of usable storage and can crank out 5 kilowattsof continuous power. As it's a DC coupled energy storage solution, you need to use either a SolarEdge Home Genesis or Home Hub inverter with it. It can provide backup power, but that requires extra equipment (a Backup Box) and adds to the cost.
