Will EPC contracts provide for the handover of a solar facility?

EPC Contracts will not provide for the handover of the solar facility to the Project Company, and the PPA will not become effective until all commissioning and reliability trialling has been successfully completed.

Should you choose an EPC contract for a solar project?

Given the significant monetary value of EPC Contracts, and the potential adverse consequences if problems occur during construction, the lowest price should not be the only factor used when selecting a Contractor. As noted earlier, an EPC Contract is one of a suite of agreements necessary to develop a solar project.

What happens if the EPC contract is uncertain?

Any uncertainty in the EPC Contract may unfortunately see the Contractor liaising directly with these third parties and possibly risking the relationship of the Project Company with key influencers, customers and long-term neighbours.

What is a bankable EPC contract?

A bankable EPC Contract is a contract with a risk allocation between the Contractor and the Project Company to the satisfaction of Lenders and their credit committees.

What services are available for wind & solar power plants?

Our comprehensive range of services encompasses the entire lifecycle of wind and solar power plants, from initial consulting to supply, erection, testing, commissioning, operations, and maintenance.

Do EPC contracts include a force majeure clause?

The rationale is that the rates of liquidated damages are likely to include an element of consequential or indirect losses. Force majeure (FM) clauses are almost always included in EPC Contracts. However, they are rarely given much thought unless and until one or more parties seek to rely on them.

Established in 2011, we have been one of the early movers in the solar park regime and have now grown into a well-established player in turnkey solar engineering, procurement and construction ("EPC") services, catering to the ...
